

ELECTION CALLED

WETS ASK THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TO CALL ELECTION TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE SALE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS AS A BEVERAGE SHALL BE PROHIBITED IN GREENCASTLE.

THE LIST HAS 312 NAMES

At 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, John H. James, as attorney for the "Wets," filed with the county auditor, a petition asking that the Board of County Commissioners call an election to determine whether the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage should be prohibited in the city of Greencastle. The petition contained 312 names.

The law provides that the commissioners, at their next meeting, shall order an election to be held no later than twenty days nor later than thirty days after the meeting of the commissioners. As the commissioners will meet on next Monday, July 7, the election must be called some day between July 28 and August 7. The petition filed reads as follows:

"PETITION FOR LOCAL OPTION ELECTION."

"To the Board of Commissioners of the County of Putnam:—We, the undersigned legal voters of the City of Greencastle, Putnam County, State of Indiana, would respectfully petition that an election be held to determine whether the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage shall be prohibited in the City of Greencastle."

The petition is composed of six separate petitions which are stapled together. Although only 214 names are necessary to secure an election, the "Wets" secured 312 names on the petition. The law provides that 20 percent of the total number of voters for mayor at the last election must sign an option election petition to make it valid. The number of votes cast for mayor at the last election is 1056.

It is probable that the election will be called for Monday, July 28.

WETS ORGANIZE TO DEFEAT THE SALOONS

Long after the petition for a local option election had been filed by the "Wets" with the county auditor last afternoon, several of the "Drys" were at the office to the petition and find out who the "Wets" are. Immediately they began to get together and plan an organization to fight the saloons. They will be advertising columns of the newspapers and are planning a series of meetings at which prominent temperance speakers will talk their fight.

Cases filed by Marshal John Charles Barnaby and A. B. Barnaby, charging them with speeding automobiles, which were to be tried on Monday before Judge Miller, were postponed for two weeks, at the request of J. P. Attorney for Mr. Hanna. The heat was the excuse on the continuance was asked.

Mabel Wright, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mary B. Wright, and her grandmother, Mrs. Cornelia Wright, who went to New York to her, returned to Greencastle Monday afternoon after a year's absence. The party spent a week in the East before returning.

After noon Tuesday lightning struck the beautiful weeping willow in the suburban station lawn and it to pieces and totally ruined. The tree was a fine specimen and was greatly admired. No one was hurt when the bolt struck it.

A BAND CONCERT TO BE GIVEN MONDAY NIGHT.

The Putnam Electric Light Co., the affable manager of which is John G. Bryson, more intimately known as "Jack" Bryson, will pull off a stunt in Greencastle next Monday night. The event will be a band concert to be given on the square by the Brazil Eagles band.

The celebration is pulled off in commemoration of the beginning of a new city lighting contract by the Putnam Electric Co., which today begins supplying light to the city under a new contract. Jack says the event will be a hummer and all Putnam county folk are invited to be in town and enjoy the music.

Death of James T. Ruark.

The death of James T. Ruark, age 62, formerly of this town but recently a resident of Indianapolis, occurred in the city hospital in Indianapolis this morning at 5 o'clock following an operation for an abscess on the brain. The body will be brought to Greencastle on the Vandalia railroad Wednesday afternoon at 3:09 o'clock and taken to Forest Hill cemetery where services and the interment were held. Mr. Ruark leaves three daughters, Mrs. Annabel Kemmer, Mrs. Flossie Huffman and Miss Ida Ruark, all of Indianapolis.

HORSE FRIGHTENS AT A MOTOR TRUCK

THOMAS J. WILSON AND FRED STRANGE THROWN FROM VEHICLE WHEN ANIMAL THEY WERE DRIVING SCARES AND TURNS OVER BUGGY NEAR LIMEDALE TUESDAY EVENING.

NEITHER IS BADLY INJURED

Thomas J. Wilson, who lives on south Locust street, was badly bruised about the face and Fred Strange, who is employed by Mr. Wilson, was badly shaken up late Tuesday afternoon when the horse they were driving, frightened at one of the large automobile trucks on the Indiana-to-Pacific Coast tour, and turned the buggy over.

The accident occurred at the crossing just this side of Limedale. Mr. Wilson and his helper were returning from Manhattan where they were installing a steam heating plant. Twelve or fourteen of the automobiles passed them and the horse was apparently not frightened at all. But when the big truck with its white side curtains came down the road it was more than the horse could understand. It started to run crossing the tracks and then turned around and recrossed them.

Strange, who was driving, was thrown out first and carried the lines with him. With the lines gone, Mr. Wilson had no chance whatsoever of controlling the horse and was thrown out when the buggy overturned.

Wilson was badly skinned and bruised about the forehead, cheeks and nose but did not require the services of a physician. Strange was badly shaken up but otherwise uninjured. The horse escaped injury all together but the buggy was badly smashed, the wheels and the shafts being broken. The horse and buggy belonged to Sam Holbert, a neighbor of Mr. Wilson's.

The drivers of the truck, either ignorant of the accident or not caring, did not stop. Two other machines, however, which were following the truck stopped and their occupants did all they could to assist Mr. Wilson, aiding him to get the horse up and the buggy in shape, so it could be returned to Greencastle.

Strange drove the buggy back and Wilson, who was walking, was overtaken by Ferd Lucas and party in Mr. Lucas' machine. They picked him up and brought him to his home in Greencastle.

Both Wilson and Strange went back to work this morning, apparently no worse for their accident except a general stiffness of the joints.

HAVE A NEW BOSS

WILLIAM B. VESTAL, RECENTLY APPOINTED POSTMASTER, TAKES CHARGE OF OFFICE ON TELEGRAPHIC INSTRUCTIONS FROM WASHINGTON.

LOCKRIDGE CHECKED OUT

There is a new boss at the Greencastle postoffice. At 8 o'clock Tuesday morning William B. Vestal, recently appointed postmaster at Greencastle, took charge of the office. A telegram received by him at 7:30 o'clock Monday night from First Assistant Postmaster Roper, at Washington, which read as follows:

"Commission mailed today. Take charge of postoffice immediately."

was the authority on which he took charge of the office.

On Tuesday at 8 o'clock he met A. O. Lockridge at the postoffice and the old and new postmaster arranged the business of the office so that Mr. Vestal could take charge. Mr. Vestal took over all stamps and moneys, giving Mr. Lockridge receipts for them.

Mr. Lockridge's term as postmaster would have expired the first of March.

The Local Option Fight.

With the filing today of a petition by the Wets asking for a local option election another fight between the Wets and Drys begins. Twice before this battle has been fought in Greencastle and in each instance the Drys have won. Whether the results of these elections have been satisfactory to the citizens and business men of Greencastle is the thing to be decided in the coming election. The people in Greencastle, at the preceding elections, declared by ballot that they wanted the saloons abolished. After four years without the saloon, another election is called. A stamp of approval or disapproval of a dry town will be given after a four years' trial. In each of the former fights The Herald has taken an active part in the campaign. Believing that the Greencastle people are now thoroughly familiar with conditions, this paper during the campaign will not take any part in the controversy. It will treat all events leading up to the election and the result of the election simply in a news manner. Advertising space in the columns of the Herald will be open to either the Wets or the Drys, provided they desire to purchase space to state their side of the controversy. No communications bearing on the situation will be published except as advertisements, so marked, and to be paid for at regular advertising rates.

SHEEP GO FOUR MONTHS WITHOUT WATER

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Sheep on the Nebo national forest, Utah, go four and a half months without water except for such moisture as they get from the dew and the juices of forage plants.

Grazing sheep on a range entirely destitute of water is a recent innovation due to the increasing demand for forage and the efforts of the forest officers to find a place on the forest ranges for all the stock that can safely be admitted. The area on the Nebo which has now proved usable by sheep is high and rocky, a portion of it being above timber line, and it has neither springs nor streams of sufficient size or accessibility to be used for stock watering purposes. The grazing season lasts from June 15 to October 31, and during this period of four and a half months the animals do not get a drink.

Under such conditions however, the sheep have done extremely well, and last year's lambs from this range had an average weight at the close of the season of 68 pounds on the Chicago market, which was rather above the normal weight from that vicinity.

In one area on the Targhee forest in Idaho sheep get water only twice during the four-months' summer grazing season. There is no water on the range, but the sheep are driven to a nearby stream lower down the mountain side. Lambs from this range weighed 65 pounds on the Chicago market.

BEATS HIS WIFE AND IS FINED $37

WESLEY WILDMAN, A FARMER LIVING IN JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP, IS BEFORE SQUIRE FRANK EDWARDS—ASSAULT OCCURRED TUESDAY.

SON, TOO, GETS WHIPPING

Wesley Wildman, a farmer who lives in Jefferson township, not far from Mt. Meridian, was before Squire Frank on Wednesday, and fined $37, including costs, for an assault upon his wife and son. The assault occurred Tuesday and the wife who received a black eye in the melee, filed an affidavit against him.

Wildman was arrested this morning and brought to town by Deputy Sheriff Harris. Evidence showed that a family row resulted in his beating his wife and whipping his boy with a buggy whip. He was fined $10 and costs for the assault on his wife and $5 and costs for the assault on the son. Wildman stayed his fine for 90 days.

Obituary.

Madonna Mae, youngest daughter of Everett and Iva Masten, was born May 4, 1912, and on the morning of June 27, 1913, fell asleep in Jesus after a lingering illness of whooping cough, being one year, one month and twenty-three days old at the time of her death.

TO MAKE EFFORT TO SECURE FARM

MEETING OF BUSINESS MEN AND CITIZENS HELD IN ASSEMBLY ROOM OF COURT HOUSE TUESDAY NIGHT—ENTHUSIASTIC IN DESIRE TO LOCATE PENAL FARM HERE.

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED

At a meeting of citizens and business men in the assembly room of the court house Tuesday night it was decided that Greencastle should make a determined effort to secure for Greencastle and Putnam county the state penal farm, which soon is to be established.

Although the meeting was not largely attended, those present were most enthusiastic in their desire to locate the farm here. The meeting was called by Elam Denny, president of the Merchants' Association, who stated to those present the object of the meeting. The state penal farm which was made possible by an act of the recent session of the Legislature, will consist of from 500 to 1,000 acres. On this land a model farm will be established.

The object of the farm is to create for state prisoners, who have been convicted of minor offenses, a prison where they will be able to learn agriculture, road building, brick making and other trades. Only the better class of prisoners would be sent to the farm.

The commission, which has been appointed by the Governor, to secure a site, has $60,000 available for the purchase of a site. The site west of Greencastle, which was considered for the epileptic farm and the tuberculosis hospital, is a model one for a penal farm. It has everything that could be desired. Fine farming lands, best quality of limestone for road building, clay for brick making, Walnut creek for water supply and sewage purposes and in fact everything desirable.

Those who attended the meeting Tuesday night decided that the Merchants' Association should have charge of the campaign for securing the farm. A committee consisting of Elam Denny, Francis Lyon, W. P. Ledbetter, David Hughes, and James L. Randel, was appointed to serve as an executive committee and arrange to secure options on the land desired for a site. Governor Ralston will be notified immediately that Greencastle is after the farm and a well organized effort to secure it will be made.

The university choir will be at Bethany Park for a four-day engagement on July 24, 25, 26 and 27. On Thursday, they will sing at the commencement exercises and on Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon will occupy the entire program with concerts. The choir was at Bethany Park last year also and are returning at the earnest request of the managers.

On August 4, 5, 6 and 7, the choir will go to Battle Ground to sing at the Epworth League convention. About thirty-five members will make the trips, which includes about one-half of the DePauw orchestra.

Mrs. Anna Moore has taken furnished rooms for the summer with Mrs. Howard Briggs at 410 East Walnut street.

FIRST MEETING OF DRYS CALLED

JOSEPH P. ALLEN, CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE OF ONE HUNDRED, ISSUES CALL FOR MEETING.

TO DISCUSS A CAMPAIGN

The first public meeting of the 1913 Wet and Dry campaign was held on Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the city library. The meeting has been called by Joseph P. Allen, chairman of the Committee of One Hundred, organized during the last Wet and Dry campaign. The call issued by Mr. Allen for the meeting is as follows:

Dear sir:—You are a member of an organization for the keeping of saloons out of Greencastle. There has been a petition presented to the County Commissioners signed by 308 people asking for an election to be held that the voters may consent that the saloons come back. We ask that you meet with us at the City Library Wednesday evening, 7:30 sharp, to consider the best plans to keep them out.

JOSEPH P. ALLEN,
Chairman of Committee of One Hundred.

MUD BESPATTERED TOURISTS MAKE A SHORT STOP HERE

Bespattered with mud because of the storm through which they had driven from Indianapolis, but happy in the belief that a bad beginning leads up to a good end, the 23 cars of the Indianapolis to Pacific coast tour, with their sixty occupants, arrived in Greencastle at about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The party left Indianapolis promptly at 2 o'clock and were met at Stilesville by a delegation of Greencastle autoists, who escorted them to town.

Upon their arrival here each member of the party was given a bottle of ice cold PieZee (and they sure seemed to relish it) and a cigar, which they also seemed to appreciate. The machines did not run close together and several had already left on their way to Brazil and Terre Haute before some of the last in line had arrived.

The members of the party expressed their appreciation of the treatment given them by Greencastle and were hearty in their praise of the roads over which they were escorted by the local people.

THE INDIANA PLAN OF COW-TESTING ASSOCIATION

In discussing the Indiana plan of Cow-Testing Association, J. R. Garver of Purdue University, Dairy Extension Department, says: "This type of Cow-Testing Association is constructed to meet the needs of the average farmer having from five to ten cows and is not, as many people imagine, an organization that is beneficial only to men making a business of dairying. That this plan of an association is considered practical and that it is beginning to show symptoms of becoming a powerful factor in revolutionizing the dairy industry throughout the state, is shown by the attitude a number of localities are taking toward this movement."

"The Indiana plan is different from the Danish plan of Cow-Testing Association. The Danish plan is practical only in high developed dairy sections where men are willing to pay $1.50 per cow per year for their testing, whereas the Indiana plan, as previously stated, is designed to meet the needs of the average Indiana farmer. The Indiana type of Cow-Testing Association provides for the testing of 800 to 1,000 cows at 75c per cow per year. There are eight units in one of these associations, and each unit contains from 100 to 150 cows. These units may or not be adjacent owing to the density of the cow population. For instance, one community may contribute enough cows to form two or more units, whereas another community twenty to fifty miles distant, may have but one unit. Each unit receives a week's time from the tester every two months."

"The tester who is employed to do the testing for this association, is a man who has been trained in the practical as well as the theoretical side of the dairy industry, who can be an invaluable help to the farmer in balancing rations, in figuring the relative value of different feeds, and in showing which combination of foods gives the best results at the least cost. Then too, the tester while spending several hours on each farm of the members of each unit once every eight weeks, not only tests the composite samples from each cow subscribed to the association, but also serves as a high type of dairy adviser. From the tests, weight of feeds in different rations, and the weight of milk produced from each cow, he is enabled to give the farmer an actual statement as to the merits of the different individuals in his herd."

The mechanical operation connected with finding these facts and the contact of the tester and farmer while making these computations, is in itself a valuable stimulus. This fact was clearly demonstrated last winter when similar work was conducted in the southern part of the state. It has been found that farmers are much freer in asking questions and in talking about their methods when approached individually than while attending a meeting."

"The first Indiana plan of Cow-Testing Association has been started in the vicinity of Carmel, Noblesville, Sheridan, Westfield, Greenfield and Lebanon. Mr. Harvey Moredock, who has been appointed by Purdue university to take charge of this association, started his work near Carmel, June 17th, 1913."

"Several other localities in the state are planning to have similar associations in the near future. The country around Vincennes is the next territory to receive assistance in this movement."

GREEK CANDY STORE IS TO BE REMODELED

Work was started this morning on what will be, according to the statement of the proprietors, the finest candy store in Indiana. Louis Zaharkos is outlining the plans of his new store, said that he intended to make it as fine as could be done and a credit to the city of Greencastle. The fixtures will be artistic, as well as elaborate and costly. He plans to have the work completed within two weeks.

A new twenty-foot fountain will be installed which will be large enough to care for all the business in short order even in the biggest rushes. French mirrors will be placed on all the lower walls and above them the walls will be hand frescoed. New tables and chairs have been ordered and the woodwork throughout will be of solid mahogany. New show windows will be made and the entrance will also be made in the lights which will include several new very fine chandeliers.

The Rebekahs Visit Brazil.

Accepting the invitation of the May Flower Rebekah lodge, No. 62, of Brazil, to visit their lodge and initiate a class of candidates, a large delegation of the Bee Hive Rebekah lodge of this town, went to Brazil Friday evening on the 6:38 interurban car, to accept the hospitalities of the sister lodge.

The Brazil lodge proved very efficient in their entertainment of the visitors, who were royally entertained. After the local lodge team gave the work for a class of candidates, delightful refreshments of ice cream, cake and orange punch were served. The intense heat of the evening only made the refreshments the more delicious. The Greencastle Rebekahs returned home on the 11 o'clock car.

Those who made the trip are: Mr. and Mrs. Will Dittamore, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Will Conklin, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Will Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warner, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Meikel, Thomas Lisby, Mrs. John Welch, Mrs. Fred Reising, Mrs. Elizabeth Nevins, Mrs. Bertha Coffman, Mrs. Will Vandiver, Mrs. Louisa Cooper, Mrs. Susie Manning, Mrs. Mary Williams, Miss Marie Priest, Miss Emma Johnston, Miss Ella Meyers, Miss Ethel Gibson, Miss Bessie Williams, Miss Velva Cooper, Miss Marie Woods, Miss Lev Harbinson, Miss Alice Gentry, Miss Helen Leachman, Miss Blanche Walden, Miss Della Miller, and Tom Callahan.

A SURVEY OF THE INDIANA APPLE CROP FOR THE YEAR

An apple crop survey of Indiana made under the direction of the Indiana Apple Show Commission shows that the 1913 apple crop lies principally in the central part of the state. In the northern part, considerable damage was done early in May by frost. "Fire Blight" and drouth somewhat worse than usual, is responsible for an adverse departure from normal conditions in several southern counties.

"The apple crop conditions," said C. G. Woodbury, secretary of the Indiana Apple Show, "are similar to those of two years ago, and just the reverse of last year. Considering the state as a whole, Indiana should have fully as large a yield as last year. From the numerous reports of frost and blight damage which came to our office a month ago we then feared an extremely light crop. The recent crop survey, however, shows that the Indiana Apple Show will have, in the present crop, a splendid resource, and promise of an exhibition far ahead of any in the past."

The past spring was a particularly unfavorable one for fruit in the Ohio Valley. Indiana, however, was much more fortunate than some neighboring states. Ohio and West Virginia report the lightest crop for years. In contrast to some others then, the Indiana orchardist has been kindly treated by nature this year. If he has sprayed and taken due care of his orchard he should command profitable prices in ready markets. The marketing problem should be easier this year on account of the large and clearly defined regions where there will be no home grown fruit of market quality. Many orchardists who did not sell a bushel of apples last year will be pleased with more than average profits this fall.

MAPLE HILL.

Mrs. Osa Marshall and children, of Crothersville, visited friends and relatives here last week.

Daisy Eldridge and children of South Dakota, is visiting her parents, John G. Sweeney and wife.

The farmers are cutting their wheat.

Rev. Cline of Roachdale will preach at Long Branch Saturday night, July 12th.

Anola Johnson, of Brazil, spent last week with her uncle, John Gardner.

Miss Avis Thomas left for North Dakota Wednesday where she will enter school for the summer. She will teach this winter.

Mae and Lottie Gardner visited relatives in Brazil from Saturday until Tuesday.

The recent rains have delayed the work on the roads.

James Dillinger is preparing to start his threshing machine.

A number of friends and relatives met at the home of A. J. Johnson on Sunday night and surprised him. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Oscar Irwin and family of Greencastle, are visiting relatives in this vicinity.

TIN PLATE MILL TO BE OPERATED.

If sufficient water can be secured at the Tin Plate Mill, the Western Tin Plate & Sheet Company mill, just east of Greencastle, will be started in operation, according to J. E. Carnehan, of Canton, Ohio, who has purchased the controlling interests in the mill. A letter was received by F. M. Lyons, attorney for Mr. Carnehan, Saturday.

In this letter Mr. Carnehan stated that he had arrangements by which he could start the plant at once if water could be secured. Mr. Lyons was instructed to take the water question up with the water works company and the city of Greencastle, and see if water could not be piped to the mill in sufficient quantities and at a price to warrant the operation of the mill. The advisability of sinking wells also will be considered. It is understood that in case the mill is opened the manufacture of some tin plate product will be begun.

The Joys of Motoring.

Ed Shores, telegraph operator at the Monon, with Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Ricketts and Herbert Landes, started out on a drive in Mr. Shores' machine late Sunday evening, in an attempt to avoid the great heat. Everything progressed nicely until they reached a point on the road about 2 miles south of Bainbridge, when the driving shaft of the machine broke, totally disabling the car. It already was late, as the party had not left Greencastle until after church.

Members of the party attempted to telephone to Greencastle for help, but the lines were down and no communication could be secured with the local garage.

Finally a member of the party walked back to Bainbridge and got the Monon operator there to telegraph to the operator here, asking him to call the garage and send assistance.

C. J. Cassidy got the word at 1 o'clock and taking his machine went to the wreck bound victims. With a rope he attached his car to the wrecked one and pulled it and its occupants home. More tough luck was encountered on the way home, when a tire on the Cassidy machine blew out. Some time was required to repair this damage and it was just 5 o'clock this morning when the party reached home.

HOUCK TO SUCCEED MATSON ON BOARD.

Governor Ralston has admitted the name of the man who will be appointed to succeed C. O. Matson, of Greencastle, as the new member of the state board of tax commissioners. It will be James A. Houck, of Indianapolis, a former candidate for the state fire marshalship, to which W. E. Longley, of Noblesville, was appointed.

The Governor said, when questioned, that his mind is made up now on the question of the appointment and that Houck will be the man. There had been a well-defined rumor in existence that Dr. T. D. Scales of Boonville, a prominent southern Indiana Democrat would be the man selected for the place.

Mr. Houck made an active campaign for the fire marshalship. Mr. Matson's term as commissioner will expire August 1. The other members of the board are Dan M. Link of Auburn (Democrat), and Eben H. Wolcott, of Marion (Republican). All three of the men now on the state board are Marshall appointees.

The Governor said he had not intended to make this coming appointment of Houck public at this time. It leaked out, however, that Houck was the man selected for the place and the Governor admitted it. The appointment is practically the last to an important state position that the Governor will be called to make for more than a year. Appointments to the quartermaster-generalship and adjutant-generalship will come next November.

Houck is recognized as a member of the Democratic organization forces in Indianapolis. He has been seen several times recently at the Governor's offices, but has kept his lips sealed as to his business there. The position pays $3,000 annually, with $1,000 traveling expenses.—Indianapolis News.

Jim Houck is a former Putnam county man and his many friends here are glad to learn of his selection by Governor Ralston to serve on the tax board. The appointment of Mr. Houck is virtually the same as appointing another Putnam county man to succeed Col. Matson.

Forest Notes.

The Balkan War has brought about a rise in certain lumber prices in Europe because of the big demand for wood for ammunition boxes. Dogwood, the principal source of shuttles for use in cotton mills, is growing scarcer year by year, and various substitutes are being tried, but with no great success.

The officials of the Yosemite National Park are cooperating with the forest officers of the Stanislaus and Sierra national forests for fire prevention and control in both the park and the forests.

Experiments with a tree planting machine at the Utah Agricultural Experiment Station indicate that it may be used to advantage in reforesting old burned areas on the national forests.

The leading forest schools of the country not only have their own forest tracts for continuous experiments but give their students actual experience in the woods by having them take part in big lumbering operations.

MERCURY HITS THE HIGH MARK MONDAY.

At about 2 p. m. Monday afternoon a downpour of rain came to break the intense heat of the past few days and relieve the people of Greencastle. Just before the clouds, which resulted in the storm, began to gather, the thermometer reached the high point of the week—104½ degrees.

RAIN COMES TO COOL THE AIR.

With the thermometer registering 103 degrees at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Greencastle people suffered and sweltered through the hottest day of the season Sunday.

Never in many years have the people of this town suffered so with the extreme heat as they have in the past few days. Not only are the days hot, but the nights are exceedingly hot—so hot in fact that it is almost impossible to get any rest.

At 9 o'clock Saturday evening the temperature was 90 degrees and it did not get much cooler during the night. At 3 o'clock Sunday morning the thermometer registered 82 degrees, the coolest of the night.

But Sunday was the scorcher. At 1 o'clock in the morning the temperature was 84 and the mercury gradually continued to rise during the day until the high point of 103 degrees was reached at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Monday started out about the same with the temperature at 84 at 7 o'clock. The record of the temperature as kept by E. Shipley, is as follows:

Misses Glenn and Gene Hamilton, who have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. Lee Bailey in Bedford, have returned home.

Farmers who were in their fields working at wheat harvest Friday suffered greatly from the intense heat. William Buis, Edgar Hurst and Eli Allen, all living in the neighborhood of Belle Union, were so overcome by the heat that they were forced to quit work. None was affected seriously, however.

Col. James Riley Weaver, who was contemplating the trip to Gettysburg for the commemoration of the famous battle, did not make the trip owing to the extremely hot weather. He was planning to go by another route than that of the special trains taken by the old soldiers but his plans did not materialize so the trip was given up altogether.

MORE THAN 500 GALLONS OF ICE CREAM IS SOLD

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody some good," at least that is what the ice cream and the ice men figure during the hot weather. From the amount of ice cream and ices sold by the two local companies, everybody in Greencastle must have averaged at least one dish of ice cream yesterday and several must have had even more of the comfort maker.

Five hundred and seventy-five gallons of ice cream were sold Saturday and Sunday by the manufacturers in the city of Greencastle and that does not include a large amount of ices and sherbets. Neither does that include close to one hundred gallons which was sent out of the city. Of this amount, three hundred and twenty-five gallons were sold Saturday and two hundred and fifty on Saturday.

The ice company sold all the ice that they could manufacture at their own plant besides three carloads which were shipped in from outside points.

The Greek Candy Company alone retailed Sunday thirty-five gallons of ice cream and a number of gallons of phosphates and other soft drinks. So heavy were the sales that Sunday night at closing time only one-half gallon of ice cream was left in the store and several patrons were refused ice cream in quantities.

Other local concerns also sold large amounts of ice cream and practically all hotels and eating houses served some kind of cream.

Obituary.

Sophia Alice James, daughter of David and Mary Howard James, was born in Franklin township, near Racoon, on August 1, 1853. She was reared in a family of seven children, having had four sisters and two brothers. Only two of the family are now left: Miss Emma James of Roachdale, and Mrs. Viola Kyle, who lives on the old homestead. Those having gone before are: Mrs. Annie Darnell, Mrs. Mollie Darnell, Thomas James and Solomon James, the last two being half brothers. On Feb. 29, 1872, she was married to Jasper N. Miller and they settled in Monroe township where they since lived, rearing a family of three children: Mrs. E. R. Denny, Ray R. Miller and Miss Mary Miller. Starting her married life at the age of eighteen years, and having an ambition and energetic disposition she did much toward accumulating a comfortable home. She has often been heard to say that she was working and sacrificing that her children might enjoy the benefits. She has never been separated from them, for the eldest, Viola, with her family, has never lived far away, while her son Ray, with his wife and the young daughter Mary, made their home with her. For a number of years, on account of failing health, she has not been able to enjoy the pleasures of life. As a last resort to regain her health, she went to the Methodist Hospital at Indianapolis and on June 13, 1913, underwent an operation. But alas, her vitality was too far spent and on June 20, just six weeks before her sixtieth birthday, she passed away, having ethereal pneumonia. Her husband was ever at her bedside and the three children and only grandchild, Howard Miller Denny, were with her several hours before the end came. While she has been spared to rear her family to maturity, yet we are never ready to part with our loved ones. Mrs. Miller had a kind and loving disposition and in days when her health and strength would permit, no one was more willing to lend a helping hand. There is not a family in the community that cannot say: Mrs. Miller, or "Aunt Sophia," as she was becoming known, did some kindness for us during our troubles or afflictions. Since suffering so deeply stamped its seal on her brow, if at times worried and nervous. Those who knew her best were aware of the same loyal, self-sacrificing disposition and loving kindness of heart. She was always appreciative for any kindness shown her and even in her suffering at the hospital she did not forget to ask that the nurses and friends who gave such kind attention and floral offerings should be remembered with some treat from home. Mrs. Miller had never united with any church, but having lived near old Pisgah and being closely associated with the people of that neighborhood, she naturally enjoyed attending services there. In recent years her invalidism had kept her from going away from home very often so that she missed much pleasant companionship with her friends. Besides the immediate family already named she has one uncle, William

COMPLICATION OF WOMAN'S ILL

Yields to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Athens, Texas.—"I had a complication of diseases, some of them of long standing. I was to you for advice and took Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, some other thing that you suggested. I must confess that I am much better in every way. I have been relieved of some of the worst troubles. My neighbors say I look younger now than I fifteen years ago."—Mrs. SARAH WHATLEY, Athens, Texas, R. F. No. 3, Box 92.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you find women who have been restored health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of great good it has been doing and suffering women for the past 30 years.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state their own signatures that they regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many of them state that it has saved them from special operations.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consulting) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by woman and held in strict confidence.

Howard, living in Oregon, and aunts, Mrs. Joseph McMurry, Franklin township and Mrs. S. LaFollette, for whom she was named, now living in Oregon. She leaves a large number of cousins, nieces, nephews and friends. Her neighbors, with whom she has lived more than forty years, will miss her in numberless ways, they cannot feel the loss of a companion as do her husband's children.

Calmly sleep, dear mother,

Thy loving smile we miss,

Thy soul is with the angels

In the choir of heavenly bliss

No more thy loving face

Will light the gloom of home,

Yet in memory love we see

While in sorrow we're alone.

Funeral services were held at the Brick Chapel at 2 p. m. Sunday, July 22. A large attendance marked the occasion and confidence in which Mrs. Miller was held by the entire community. Interment in the cemetery by the church house.

HORSES SUCCUMB TO THE GREAT HEAT

As the result of the great heat the past few days the farmers have been greatly hindered in their work of harvesting the wheat crop. The weather has been so hot that horses as well as the men have been unable to withstand the heat. Several horses have died as the result of the heat and many men have overcome.

Several horses are reported to have died Saturday from sunstroke. Nelson, who lives at the cross nine miles north of town, lost a valuable animal and it is said that other horses in the same neighborhood were overcome and died. Roberts of Stilesville lost a horse the same way, while a farmer near Stilesville and a farmer at Coatesville lost valuable animals.

Many of the farmers are working during the early morning hours, late in the evenings in harvest their crop. Others are beginning early in the morning and quitting noon. All are hoping for relief from the intense heat so that they may harvest their wheat before it is too ripe.

Lafayette people were somewhat disturbed last week by an article in the Greencastle Herald stating that Crouch & Son had bought 100 acres of land near Carpenter'sville in Putnam county and would convert it into a model horse farm. A farm was going to be transferred from Putnam county, but Mr. Crouch laid all apprehensions by stating that Lafayette would still be the company's headquarters. True that they own a 246-acre farm in Franklin township, Putnam county, including an 18-acre fruit with 1,100 fine apple trees on it, will improve the orchard and will other 228 acres for farming purposes. —Monticello Herald.

RESULTS TELL.

There Can Be No Doubt About the Results in Greencastle.

Results tell the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of a Greencastle citizen. Can be easily investigated. What better proof can be had? E. Ackerman, cobbler, 14 Vine St., Greencastle, Ind., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Jones Stevens Co.'s Drug Store was so satisfactory that I am convinced that they are the best kidney remedy on the market. They completely cured me of kidney complaint and I have had no return of the trouble. I have told many other people about Doan's Kidney Pills." The above statement was given January 8, 1909, and when Mr. Ackerman was interviewed on June 5, 1912, he said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a reliable remedy. I use them when I need a kidney remedy and I always get relief." For sale by all dealers—Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. KILLS HIS FATHER TO PROTECT MOTHER

LAFAYETTE, June 26.—John C. Barger, a freight conductor on the Monon railroad, was shot three times and almost instantly killed at 12:30 o'clock this morning by his son, Paul, 18 years old. The tragedy took place at the Barger home, 1134 north Fifteenth street, and was the result of a vicious attack by Barger on his wife, who was lying in bed.

Barger, who had been asleep upstairs, came down to compel his wife to go upstairs with him, and uttered an oath when he entered the room and saw his wife and son lying in bed. He walked to the bed, leaned over his son, and with his right hand seized his wife by the throat.

Mrs. Barger and her son were anticipating trouble because Barger had come home under the influence of liquor early in the evening, a condition that always made him abusive, and they had thrown themselves, fully dressed, on a bed downstairs. Paul had determined to protect his mother from his father's abuse and had placed a pistol under the pillow before he threw himself on the bed.

When his father leaned over him and seized Mrs. Barger, Paul, who had remonstrated with him when he entered the room and had begged him not to hurt his mother, drew the pistol from its hiding place. He pressed the muzzle against his father's body and fired. Barger straightened up when he received the wound and Paul fired again. Barger then started toward the foot of the bed and passed around it to reach his wife. Just as he passed the foot of the bed, Paul fired the third shot. Barger staggered under the wound, sank to the floor, gave a few gasps and was dead. Paul was placed in jail to await investigation.

Barger is well known among the railroad men here.

Obituary.

Amelia Ellen, daughter of William E and Eliza A. Crosby, was born near Roachdale, Ind., Sept. 23, 1853, and died at her home in New Maysville, Ind., June 17, 1913; aged fifty-nine years, eight months and sixteen days. She was married to William A. Cooper Sept. 15, 1869. To this union was born one child, a son, who died in infancy. The forty-four years of her married life was spent near and in the town of New Maysville. About the year 1867 she embraced the Saviour and united with the Missionary Baptist church in which faith she died. Those closely associated with her know how loyal and devoted she was to her Saviour and church. She was deeply religious in a broad open way that caused her to love every influence that made for good. Though departed from us she speaks in the language of good works and a faithful life. She was prompt in every duty in the home, in the community, in the church, earnest in every action and pure in heart. She was so truly conscientious that she would under no circumstances commit a deed that she believed to be wrong. Her life was one of virtue and unselfishness and was really a quiet and beautiful poem of goodness. In the atmosphere of the home and the sphere of the church activity because of kindly deeds of charity and love she was universally loved and many here today bear witness to the truth of this statement. May God comfort and heal the broken hearts of loved ones, and now that she has gone from us may we be able to see new cares and beauties in her life and work that never impressed us before. Mrs. Cooper belonged to old and highly respected family. Her funeral was held at the Missionary Baptist church in New Maysville June 18, 1913, by Rev. Sherrill of Danville, the regular pastor of that church. She leaves two sisters and one brother to mourn her loss: Mrs. Emma McMullen, J. S. Crosby of Roachdale and Mrs. Lena Call of Greencastle.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble.

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stengle, Plainfield, N. J., writes, "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything I want." For sale by all dealers.

"Boys, Grow Corn."

(By Clyde H. Tavenner.)

WASHINGTON, June 24.—"Boys, grow corn" is now established as the slogan of the Department of Agriculture. The sentence has taken the place of Horace Greeley's famous advice: "Young man, go West."

In the past five or six years the Department of Agriculture has shown by demonstration that for young men there is greater opportunity in producing the gold of the corn crop than there ever was in gathering the gold from the placer mines of California.

For no 10-year period has the corn yield of the United States exceeded an average of 28 bushels per acre. Not even the most fertile state has ever produced over 54 bushels per acre. Yet in practically every section of the country yields of over 100 bushels are continually being produced by good farmers.

It is asserted that the corn yield of the United States can be easily doubled by the spread of good farming methods. Or, if such a yield is beyond our needs, the acreage devoted to corn can be greatly reduced and the land devoted to other needed crops.

There are untold billions of dollars which can be added to the wealth of the nation by increasing the corn production. No other line of activity offers such opportunities.

The hope of the department of the country is in the boys. They, more quickly than men, grasp the scientific principles underlying the successful breeding of corn for greater crops. Youthful enthusiasm guarantees that the principles once learned will be applied to actual corn production with conscientiousness and perseverance.

Consequently we see the great and growing organizations of boys' corn clubs, promoted by schools, states, independent organizations and the National Department of Agriculture. Each year the champion boy corn growers of each state are given a free trip to Washington where they meet the president and receive diplomas from the secretary of agriculture.

The work of getting boys interested in championship corn contests has advanced to a point where the Department is now showing its hand—how it intends to utilize this organization of boys in the future. A bulletin has just been issued on the subject, and one sentence in the bulletin might have been written in this form:

"Wanted—A boy in every corn-growing county of the United States who can prove his ability as a farmer by several years of superior work in the corn contests, to act for the rest of his life as the official seed-corn grower and distributor in his county for the government. Pleasant and profitable work. For further information apply to Office of Corn Investigations, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C."

In other words, it is the intention of the Department to effect a permanent organization of boy champion corn growers. One in each county is desired. By improving seed and furnishing it to the farmers of his county he will help toward the general plan for doubling the American corn crop.

The name of the new bulletin is: "How to Grow an Acre of Corn." It is a corn-grower's textbook, written in short better varieties than have been produced." is the promise held out.

It is also pointed out that while corn sells commercially for 50 or 75 cents per bushel, the successful corn-breeder can sell his corn to his neighbors for seed for $2 or $3 a bushel. A boy who can grow 100 bushels of this sort of corn on an acre spends a very profitable summer.

Every boy in town, village or the country who has access to an acre of ground ought to write to his congressman and get into the corn growing contest.

PREMIER SIX CARRIES

One of the genuine novelties of the great motor caravan, now crossing the continent from Indianapolis to the Pacific, which was in Greencastle Tuesday, is the picture show presented nightly by the Premier Motor Manufacturing company.

By a smartly conceived device a screen is placed across the hood of a regular Premier Six touring car. In the rear section of the car is carried a stereopticon of the most modern construction, and with this, and the use of a Prest-O-Lite burner, an interesting and entertaining show is given, it being possible to bring hundreds of people within optical range of the screen.

The pictures shown include many interesting subjects. One set shows scenes in the Premier plant, including views of the assembling shops, test rooms, finishing shops, and other important departments of the company, one of the most interesting being a picture illustrating the way the cars are run for hundreds of miles over rapidly revolving drums. This is one of the tests given before final test on the road.

Another series of slides will show views along the route of the great Ocean-to-Ocean tour—the first trans-continental tour extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific composed solely of amateur drivers and their families in twelve Premier cars. To this remarkable tour undoubtedly belongs the credit of the present world-wide agitation for greater and better highways.

While the scenes of their home life as portrayed on the screen are expected to prove of particular interest to the Westerners, still another series of pictures will bring the people along the route face to face with the world's famous Indianapolis Motor Speedway, where the recent international motor sweepstakes race was staged. These will include the lineup of drivers before the start of the 500-mile grind and Jules Goux, the noted French pilot as he crosses the tape in his winning Peugeot at the finish.

Last but not least, these instructive slides will portray the principal points of interest in the great Hoosier metropolis from which the tour started.

Indiana's standing as a literary center is not overlooked, for the screen shows the home of James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet, in Lockerbie street. The home of Meredith Nicholson, the novelist, who recently declined the ambassadorship to Portugal offered him by President Wilson, is displayed as is also the home of Booth Tarkington, famous as a novelist, and playwright. Riley, Nicholson, and Tarkington live in Indianapolis.

The FIGHT AT ELEPHANT ROCK

By BUFFALO BILL.

This is the story of the battle—how nearly forgotten—at Elephant Rock at the South end of Beaver Valley in the winter of 1863. Major-General Eugene A. Carr was in command, one of the bravest, wisest Indian fighters who ever lived. I am proud that he once spoke of me as his friend and that he trusted me.

A big war party of "dog soldiers" (fanatical renegades collected from a dozed different tribes) were out and were making themselves a danger to the whole district. Their atrocities were at last so great that Carr had orders to go after them and never to let up in his pursuit till they were crushed.

For months we followed them, and caught up with them at last near Elephant Rock. Coming upon their fresh trail there, Carr went into camp, sending an advance force of skirmishers under Lieut. Ward to locate the enemy. I acted as guide to the skirmishers. Ward sent me on a line parallel to his own, and unexpectedly came up with so large a force of Indians that he was almost cut off before Carr with reinforcements could get to his relief. A quick battle sent the Indians scattering.

Next day the chase kept up, the savages making a gallant running fight of it. This sort of thing continued three days. All that time, almost, I was in the saddle. Then came the climax.

The rest of the adventure I am going to quote from Gen. Carr's own official account of the affair. He wrote:

"The Indians had got into four ravines which headed near the trail, two on each side. Babcock dismounted his men and formed them in a circle and stood the Indians off. I sent Lieut. Bradley with the next company to open communications, and the Indians, supposing the whole command was coming, went on as before. Reaching the scene we could see the Indians scattering in retreat.

"A figure with apparently a red cap, rose slowly on the hill. For an instant it puzzled me, as it wore the buckskin and had long hair, but on seeing the horse I recognized that it was Cody's Powder Face, and saw that the rider was 'Buffalo Bill' without his broad-brimmed sombrero. On closer examination I saw his head was swathed in a bloody handkerchief. His hat had been shot off, the bullet ploughing his scalp badly for about five inches. It had ridged along the bone and was bleeding profusely—a very close call, but a lucky one.

"I took the gallop and ran the Indians for twelve miles and across the Republican River and up the bluffs on the south side, where they scattered in every direction after dropping a good deal of plunder. We could see them on the distant hill, but could not catch them under the circumstances, or without means of some counter strategic cunning, so we went back and camped north of the Republican. The advance guard had been relieved, the Indians severely punished, with a loss on our side of but four or five killed and few wounded; this, with Babcock's horse wounded and Cody's narrow escape as the resulting casualties.

"The object of the campaign was nearly accomplished, but our greatest need was supplies which the hot trail had sidetracked in the excitement of a necessary pursuit of the defiant foe. As the country was infested with Indians and it was fifty miles to the nearest supply point, Fort Kearny, on consultation with Cody, he decided it would be best to undertake the job himself of going for supplies.

I gave him the best horse in the outfit and when twilight arrived he started after patching up his head a little, to bring relief and meet us at a point northwest about a day's march.

"These were about the most definite directions any scout got in the trackless wastes in those days, and the faithful fulfillment of these showed the peculiar sixth sense or acumen possessed by scouts like Cody.

"Cody, returning, reached us safely, making a successful ride of fifty miles during the night, arriving at Fort Kearny at daylight. He had chased and fought Indians all day, been wounded and superintended the loading of supplies.

"And when through his rare frontier instinct he reached us, he had been almost constantly in the saddle for forty hours. Pretty strenuous work!"

The National Game.

Politics! Great word that! Ever stop to think what it means? No! People talk about baseball being the national game! 'Taint so. Politics is the great game of America and of the world. Men make a business of it as well as a pastime. In that respect it's a good deal like baseball. There are professional and amateur players.—Lewiston (Me) Journal.

VETERANS OFF TO

THE FIELD OF BATTLE

Once more the bugle call has called Farmington Rockhill of Greencastle and Ephraim Herriott of Clinton Falls to the battle field, but this time the sturdy veterans will not shoulder their muskets with a feeling of enmity but only with a stern loyalty and love for the Union which has summoned them to Gettysburg to commemorate that decisive battle of a half-century ago.

The government has planned the largest celebration ever attempted along this line to commemorate the Battle of Gettysburg, which was fought on July 1, 2 and 3 in 1863. Veterans from all parts of the country, who are able to travel, will be taken to the old battle field and kept there for several days. Free transportation is furnished to all the soldiers who fought in the battle, and quarters and rations will be served them free while there. All the veterans who are there will be taken care of by the government and the State of Pennsylvania, both of which have made generous appropriation for the commemoration.

It is predicted that a crowd of fifty thousand people will be at Gettysburg during the anniversary, although a large number of them will be only visitors and a number of the soldiers will be present who did not fight in the battle.

The veterans from this section of Indiana will leave Indianapolis on June 28 on a special train and make the trip to Gettysburg by the way of Washington. Governor and Mrs. Ralston will be among the prominent Indiana visitors and the governor will make the principal address at the reunion of the Indiana soldiers to be held on July 2.

A striking instance of the good feeling which now exists between the North and the South is the fact that both the boys of the Blue and of the Gray will participate in the commemoration and what bitter feeling may have existed on those fearful days fifty years ago will be present only as a memory.

Mr. Rockhill said that he understood that for several months every dwelling and hut within twenty miles of the battlefield had been reserved by the visitors who will be present.

The rations which will be served to the veterans will be in striking contrast to the humble fare which was provided half a century ago. The best that the government can afford for its old veterans will be served. On the day of July 4, ice cream and cigars will be served at dinner, twenty carloads of ice cream having been ordered for this one occasion.

The Indiana regiments took a prominent part in the battle with five regiments of infantry, the Seventh, Fourteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-Seventh, and six Dis mounted of the Third Indiana Cavalry. The anniversary ceremonies will be one of the rockers."

be marked by the unveiling of several monuments and tablets and address by Ex-president William H. Taft, Chief Justice White and many other men of nationwide prominence. It is estimated that five hundred survivors of the battle from Indiana alone will return. Three special trains will be used to transport the veterans. Among the five hundred from the Hoosier state, are seventy who fought under the Confederate flag.

IS GREENCASTLE

AFTER THIS FARM?

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 25.—The Indiana State Farm Commission recently appointed by Governor Ralston to provide for the establishment and government of a correctional institution to be known as a penal farm, held its first meeting yesterday at the Claypool Hotel and perfected an organization.

The appropriation to be used in purchasing the land amounts to $60,000.

The commission is now ready to consider offers of land, which must be of varied topography, with natural resources and advantages for varied forms of husbandry.

The commission already has received communications concerning proposed sites near Delphi, Greencastle, Bedford, Brazil and Scottsburg.

Does Putnam county want the state penal farm? The Indiana State Farm Commission recently appointed by Governor Ralston to provide for the establishment and government of a correctional institution to be known as a penal farm held its first meeting yesterday at Indianapolis and perfected an organization.

Dr. S. E. Smith, superintendent of the Eastern Insane Hospital at East-haven, was made president; G. A. M. Shideler, of Marion, a former warden of the State Prison, vice president; W. H. Hart, of Indianapolis, secretary, and Willis Hickam, of Spencer, treasurer. The commission, which serves without compensation, will act in conjunction with the board of state charities in buying a suitable farm of not less than 500 acres as provided by an act of the last General Assembly. The appropriation to be used in purchasing the land will amount to $60,000.

The commission is now ready to consider offers of land, which must be of varied topography, with natural resources and advantages for varied forms of husbandry, fruit growing, stock raising, brick making and the preparation of road and paving material. Favorable railroad, drainage, sewerage and water facilities also will be sought. The commission is prohibited from taking into consideration any offer of land or other donations or inducements in deciding upon a site. Five hundred acres is the minimum that can be purchased, but the commission hopes to obtain a larger tract with the appropriation.

The commission members plan to make an inspection of the penal farms now in existence and hope to provide a state penal farm with location, equipment and government which will compare favorably with similar institutions of other states. An appropriation of $20,000, available June 1, 1914, is provided for the erection of buildings and expenses contemplated at that time. The institutions of this character now in successful operation in Massachusetts, Cleveland, O.; Occaquan, Va., and Guelph, Ontario.

What tract of land near Greencastle which has been submitted to the commission is not known. However, Greencastle should make an effort to secure the institution.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jeffries, Sunday, a daughter.

NEIGHBORS GO TO AID STORM VICTIM

P. W. McNary, who lives just four miles east of Greencastle, was the victim of the storm Wednesday noon. When the storm reached his home it had a lot of wind with it, sufficient, in fact, to blow down about a mile of fencing, demolish his spring house, push a corn crib off its foundation and tear a small piece of roofing off his house. His neighbors hearing of his loss, gathered at his home soon after the rain let up and rebuilt his fence and assisted in making the other repairs necessary. Mr. McNary says its not so bad to have a storm if you have the right kind of neighbors.

WILL CASE IS COMPROMISED.

DePauw University Reaches Settlement With Simeon Smith Heirs.

BLOOMFIELD, Ind., June 25.—The contest case brought by heirs of the late Simeon Smith against DePauw University has been compromised. The terms of the compromise have not been given out, but it is understood that DePauw will pay the costs and attorney's fees, amounting to about $5,000, and will surrender to the contestants farm property valued at about $30,000. Smith, who was the wealthiest citizen of Greene county, left property valued at $250,000. His death occurred last August. He was a widower and left no children, but was survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ida Miller and Mrs. Maude B. Dixon, both of Vallonia, Jackson county, and a number of nieces and nephews, also living in Jackson county. He left a will with the Union Trust Company of Indianapolis, the trust company also being named as executor. By its provisions, not to exceed $9,000 went to relatives, most of whom were cut off without a dollar. Two hundred acres of valuable land were given to the Methodist Hospital, Indianapolis, and 160 acres to the trustees of the Preachers' Aid and Veterans' Home Society of the Indiana Conference of the M. E. church. The remainder of the estate was given to DePauw University; $50,000 to establish and maintain the Simeon Smith choir of chemistry in the institution and the remainder to the general fund of DePauw. The ground for the contest was that the representatives of DePauw had exercised undue influence.

a new station have vanished. The two separate waiting rooms now in use will be combined in one room. SPIRITUALIST TO TALK TO BRAZIL GHOST

A Chicago spiritualist attracted by the newspaper reports of the appearance of a ghostly vision on the window at the home of Toney Robinson on West Robinson street, has about 4 o'clock. His body was brought to his home in Bainbridge, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Lewis of that town. He went to Richmond just a week ago to get work and found employment as driver of an ice wagon. He had driven his wagon to the ice company barn Tuesday night and early the next morning his body was found lying beside the wagon, in the barn.

A bruise on his temple lead his friends and parents to believe that the lad may have met with foul play. An investigation of his death will be made.

Was Bainbridge Boy Murdered?

Under circumstances which lead many of his friends to believe that he may have met foul play, Ernest Lewis, age 20 years, of Bainbridge, was found dead in a barn at Richmond, Indiana, on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. His body was brought to his home in Bainbridge, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Lewis of that town. He went to Richmond just a week ago to get work and found employment as driver of an ice wagon. He had driven his wagon to the ice company barn Tuesday night and early the next morning his body was found lying beside the wagon, in the barn.

LUCKY THIRTEEN.

Number Far From Being a Hoodoo—A Few Instances.

Why should people shy at the number 13? Is there any better number in existence? Doesn't the moon go around the earth thirteen times a year? Didn't Uncle Sam start out with thirteen states? Look at "Old Glory." He waves his thirteen stripes forever. Look at the half dollar; thirteen stars around its margin, thirteen leaves that deck the brow of the maiden fair. See the other side. Thirteen stars over the eagle's nest; thirteen arrows in his left talons, thirteen leaves in the laurel branch in his right; thirteen quills in his tail and thirteen in each wing; thirteen bars in the shield on his breast and thirteen letters in "E Pluribus Unum."

LIGHTNING STRIKES THREE TIMES IN THE SAME PLACE

PRINCETON, Ind., June 26.—Lightning yesterday struck and burned the barn of Charles Joachim, west of Princeton, with heavy loss. This is the third barn Mr. Joachim has lost on the same spot from lightning in the last few years. It is believed there is something in the ground which attracts the lightning to that particular spot.

Several years ago while a man was roofing a barn on this spot he was knocked off the building twice by lightning within the space of thirty minutes, it is said.

Listen!

A Kentucky editor is most certainly authority on brides. He says: "The bride is a woman of wondrous fascination and remarkable attractiveness, for with manner as enchanting as the wand of a siren, and a disposition as sweet as the odors of flowers and spirits as joyous as the caroling of birds and mind as brilliant as those glittering tresses that adorn the brow of winter, and with heart as pure as dewdrops trembling in a coronet of violets, she will make the home of her husband a paradise of enchantment. Like the lovely home of her girlhood were the heaven-toned harp of marriage with its chords of love and devotion and fond endearments sent for the sweet strains of felicity that ever thrill the senses with the rhythmic pulsings of ecstatic rapture."

Predicts Future for This Pacer.

Putnam county bids fair to place itself on the racing map if the predictions of Hiatt Shuey, who lives near Bainbridge, are correct. Diamond Dispute is the pacer upon which he bases his hopes and he will take him out this fall to a large number of race meets, such as Decatur and other places.

The horse is seven years old and summer before last was entered in ten races and never failed to take a place and get a share of the prize money. Shuey has had it training this spring under the direction of a professional trainer from South Chicago. The horse is now in the best condition that it ever was in and barring accidents, its owner predicts that it will earn him a good bunch of prize money this fall.

Shuey will take the horse out for three months, and enter him in races at county fairs and other big racing events. He will go along himself and personally superintend the direction and care of the horse as he is not willing for any one else to manage it.

Mrs. Richard Houck, age 66, wife of Dick Houck, the south end blacksmith, slipped on the cement floor of her cellar Thursday falling heavily to the floor and breaking her hip. On account of her advanced age the injury is a serious one.

ANY RELATIVES OF YOURS HERE?

MEROM, Ind., June 26.—That Indiana was inhabited in prehistoric times by the autochthonous type of man, or men without foreheads, was shown recently by E. W. LaGow, a scientific investigator of Sleepy Eye, Minn., when he found an old stone grave near Merom which contained the skeletons of this strange type. The discovery is a remarkable one from the light it sheds on the dwellers in Hoosierdom centuries ago.

Mr. LaGow has been studying the mounds in the vicinity of Merom and was in company with Mr. Dawsey, an old Merom resident, when he found the grave in the hills near the town. In speaking of his discovery today Mr. McGow said:

"The tomb or cist was of crude workmanship, being made of thin slabs of shale rock standing on the edge which formed the sides and the edge of the grave. Over this grave which was two feet wide and four feet long was placed a large slab of stone, forming a perfect vault. Below this slab was a deposit of mixed soil and some small fragments of ancient pottery. Beneath this deposit was found the bones of several men, their positions indicating that they had been buried in a sitting position, as was the custom among the prehistoric races of men.

"The portions of the skull obtained are considered the most remarkable of any ever found, as they belong to the autochthonous type or the race without foreheads. The eye sockets were very close together, indicating a very low animal type, and a portion of the lower jaw contained three perfect teeth, which were much longer and sharper than those of the modern man. From this we may infer that their owner was carnivorous, or belonged to one of the flesh eating tribes.

Death of Asbury O'Hair.

The death of W. Asbury O'Hair, age 87 years, one of Putnam county's most prominent pioneer farmers, occurred at his home about 8 miles north of Greencastle, on the Crawfordsville road this morning at about 8 o'clock, following an illness of general debility. Mr. O'Hair was born in Woolf county, Ky., on January 8, 1822 and removed to Monroe township, this county with his father, the late James E. M. O'Hair in 1829. He had resided continuously in that town ship ever since.

He leaves five sons, all who reside in Putnam county, to mourn his loss. They are Henry O'Hair, Harvey O'Hair, Fernando O'Hair, Albert O'Hair and Carey O'Hair. The two last named lived with their father on the old O'Hair homestead farm.

He also leaves six brothers and two sisters. They are Elsberry O'Hair, Greenberry O'Hair, Simpson O'Hair, Sylvester O'Hair, Bascom O'Hair, R. L. O'Hair, Mrs. James Curtis, all of Putnam county, and Mrs. Asa Black of Wellington, Kansas.

The funeral was at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning at Brick Chapel, Rev. Fred Hixson of Crawfordsville and Rev. Frank Jeffrey of Greencastle officiated.

CIRCUS MAN WILL FARM.

Ben Wallace Will Live the Simple Life Now.

With the burden of being a big circus owner and manager off his mind for the first time in over twenty-five years, Benjamin E. Wallace, former owner and manager of the Hagenbeck-Wallace shows, will return to Peru on July 3 to spend the remainder of his life a practical farmer. A notice to this effect has been received by J. M. Johnson a man who has had charge of the Wallace farms in Miami county for years. Word received from Mr. Wallace stated that he would be home on the date named to take charge of things.

POPLAR GROVE.

George T. Lasley and family, of Boone county, are visiting with relatives in this vicinity.

Frank Davis of Terre Haute, spent over Sunday with homefolks. Curtis Jones was at Greencastle Saturday, on business.

W. A. Allen and wife spent Sunday with Albert Williams, near Putnamville.

Cletis DeWitt and Minnie Chablos of Indianapolis are visiting with M. D. Lasley and family this week.

Annoying to Say the Least.

Again the bold, bad burglar man visited the O. A. Shepard Clothing store Wednesday night of this week. These visits are becoming chronic at this store, and it goes without saying that they are very annoying also.

The entrance was affected at the east rear window; the iron bars were bent down and the upper sash lowered. Just how much merchandise was taken cannot be said, but a generous supply was secured; the safe was not locked, but the inner vault was locked; this was torn out and entrance effected from the back side of it by tearing out the entire end; nothing but private papers were in the receptacle and they were not at all damaged.

This store seems to be the object of the point of the fellow who takes by "night and not by right" as a number of visits have been paid it in the past year; so frequent, in fact, that Mr. Shepard is seriously contemplating erecting a sign reading, "key to rear door is under the back steps; don't bust up the furniture."—Roachdale News.

DR. BENJAMIN ROLLER FAILS TO THROW SELOOM.

With his bulldog persistence and his great strength in working order, Hassan Seloom went a full hour Saturday night at the Park theatre with Dr. Benjamin F. Roller in the fastest and most clever contest that has been staged here and thereby won the match. It was agreed when they entered the ring that if Seloom should get a fall before Roller got one the bout should end there in Seloom's favor, and that if the doctor should throw Seloom twice in an hour of actual wrestling, Dr. Roller should be proclaimed the winner. Dr. Roller's suggestion, it was agreed that if the under man's foot should get off the mat they should cease and proceed to the center of the ring. He believed that such a course would be more satisfactory than if a fall was secured while the under man was partly off the mat. When the principals met in the ring, they shook hands, and the doctor sized his opponent up critically. Then he and Seloom with Robert and Frank Moore, Referee John Ross and Perry J. Coady of the Princess theatre, master of ceremonies for the evening, lined up for a flashlight picture, after which Mr. Coady announced the weight of the principals. Dr. Roller gave his weight as 210 pounds, and Seloom gave his weight at 185 pounds. Dr. Roller is six feet one inch tall, is splendidly proportioned, and is all bone and sinews. Both were in their bare feet, and wore short trunks.

The doctor kept up a rapid fire banter with the crowd at the ring-side, and while the seconds were examining the finger nails of the principals, Dr. Roller put out his hands for inspection.

"I believe these are all right; if I can't beat him without gouging his eyes out, I don't want to win."—Michigan City Dispatch.

Death of John G. McCoy.

The death of John G. McCoy, age 77 years, occurred at about 11 o'clock Friday morning at his home on south Indiana street, following an illness of several weeks. A general break down caused his death.

Mr. McCoy was born in Jefferson county, Ohio, on March 13, 1836. While still a young man he removed to Mt. Erie, Wayne county, Illinois, where he taught school, until the war broke out. At that time he entered the army as a first lieutenant of Co. K, of the 61st Illinois Regiment. After serving for two years in the army, and gaining the rank of a captain, he returned to his home, where he married Luitia M. Locke.

With his wife he went to Effingham, Ill., where he practiced medicine until his health failed him. He then came to Greencastle where he had made his home since 1894. Since coming to Greencastle Mr. McCoy had been engaged in the real estate and insurance business. Mr. McCoy was a member of the Methodist church and closely connected with the church enterprises of the town. He leaves the following children: Mrs. M. B. Fuller, Mrs. J. P. Dunlavy and William M. McCoy, of Mountain Air, New Mexico; Mrs. A. Underwood of Pasadena, Cal.; Mrs. A. B. Crowder, of Bethany, Ill.; J. L. McCoy, of Crawfordsville; F. A. McCoy, of Mt. Carmel, Ill., and Mrs. Benton Curtis and Kenneth Peck of Greencastle.

Papers, prepared by leaders in their respective lines throughout the state, will be read; musicians of national prominence will be brought to address the meetings, and there will be open discussions of important questions. By this means, the association hopes to make their annual meetings of real benefit to the members rather than merely a social good time and music festival which has been emphasized heretofore.

HAIR CAME OUT BY HANDFULS

Terrible Itching. Began with Rash. Dandruff Literally Covered Scalp. Entirely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment Within One Month.

3002 Cass St., St. Louis, Mo.—"For five years I suffered with itching of my body and scalp. My trouble began with a rash on my lower limbs which was very annoying and my scalp was literally covered with dandruff. My hair used to come out by the handfuls and the itching of my body and scalp was terrible. I had used almost all the skin remedies on the market, but with no results, when I wrote for a little Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it gave me instant relief. Within one month's use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was entirely cured. I cannot discover one strand of my hair coming out and I have not lost a minute of sleep since using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which entirely cured me of itching of my body and scalp in its worst form. I also find the Cuticura Soap a benefit in shaving." (Signed) Charles Judlin, Dec. 8, 1911.

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, itching, burning palms, shapeless nails and painful finger-ends, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. Soak hands, on retiring, in hot water and Cuticura Soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment, and wear old, loose gloves during the night. Obituary.

Clara Alice Sallust, youngest child of William and Sarah Adaline Sallust, was born Aug. 14, 1874, and died June 27, 1913, at the age of 38 years, 10 months and 13 days. She died at the home of her brother Vorhes. The greater part of her life was spent at the place of her birth.

Her mother died seventeen years ago. She expressed her regrets on leaving Clara because of Clara's weakness, both mental and physical. Clara expressed her feeling toward the loss of her mother by saying many times, "When my mother died my dark days began."

Her father died eleven years ago. She was then called for by her sister Cora. Three months ago today this sister was laid to rest. Before Cora's death Clara had been taken to Fort Wayne to the Home for the Feeble Minded. But on account of her physical condition she could not be kept here and was brought to her brother's home Jan 4 Here her loving brother and dear wife and family did everything within their power to add to her comforts and to make her burdens as light as could be.

She led a very quiet life, never harming anyone by either word or deed. There never was a more patient sufferer. Not once was she heard to murmur or complain. She realized the end was near and expressed a desire to live.

The family consisted of seven children, four of these having preceded her to the grave leaving two brothers, George Arthur of Webb City, Mo., and Vorhes of Stilesville, to mourn her loss.

The second and final dividend has been declared in the estate of Bert P. Sandy, of Cloverdale, bankrupt. The estate will pay 22½ per cent on the indebtedness. Payments of creditors will be made by William N. Sutherland, trustee, at his office in Greencastle on and after July 11. Notice to this effect has been mailed to the creditors by Albert Raab, referee in bankruptcy.

HOGS REACH $8.90 ON REDUCED RECEIPTS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 2.—Local hog quotations came within 10 cents of the nine dollar mark yesterday when reduced offerings caused buyers to boost prices from 5 to 10 cents. The big end of the market was fully 10 cents higher than Monday. The market spread from $8.85 to $8.90. About 7,000 fresh hogs arrived, and all buyers were in the session. The close was about steady and the pens were well cleared. Other markets were higher.

Cattle Market Slow.

Cattle continue draggy. Receipts were fairly large and almost everything moved slowly. Stockers and feeders were off a quarter compared with the close of last week. Cows were about steady, common heifers and steers were slow to sell and were a shade lower. The calf market was about steady, a few fancy calves selling as high as 9c. The bottom fell out from under the sheep and lamb market, prices slumping from 50 to 75 cents, as against the close of last week. Sheep elsewhere were quoted much lower.

Mrs. H. S. Stevenson, of Indianapolis, is here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Robe.
